CONCRETE SOCIETY AWARDS – CALL FOR ENTRIES

Now entering its 42nd year, the prestigious Concrete Society Awards is accepting entries for projects that show innovation and excellence through the use of concrete - the most versatile of structural materials and the most widely used building material in the world.

The deadline for entries is 9 April 2010, with the Awards being announced and presented at the Annual Awards Dinner of The Concrete Society at the London Marriott Hotel in Grosvenor Square on 12 November 2010.

The Awards categories cover new structures, which includes three subcategories – Civil Engineering, Building and Concrete Performance, together with a category for Mature Structures.

Carol Wood from The Concrete Society said, "The Society's Awards are recognised as one of the most prestigious within the construction industry and generate extensive publicity for all companies shortlisted. Projects previously submitted that have won an Award are wide ranging and include breweries, bridges, grandstands, libraries, schools, sculptures and even a Cocoon structure - our most recent Overall Winner. The sheer flexibility in material application is apparent and worthy of the excellent coverage and promotion it receives. We are always delighted with the exposure given to project teams that enter and are very excited at the prospects for 2010."

Opportunities for sponsorship of the 2010 Awards will also be available on a first-come first-served basis - for more information on the event and sponsorship opportunities and also to download 2010 entry forms Tel: +44 (0)1276 607144 or e-mail: c.wood@concrete.org.uk.
